

- CIVICS & URBAN LIFE
- ARTS & CULTURE
- FOOD & DRINK
- SHOP LOCAL
- SMARTMOM
- NO WORDS DAILY PIX

MAC HELP SERVING PARK SLOPE & VICINITY SINCE 2002
Dan Joseph: 718-930-2286 | dan@mac11215.com
Troubleshooting, Consulting, Coaching and more... www.mac11215.com

ARCHIVES
Select Month

caroline design
917-951-1004

Interiors for Your Life

caroline design

ELECTRIC LITERATURE

Tonight: Did You Hear the One About the Carp Who Hailed a Taxi?

January 22, 2011

Tonight there are two performances of a play called Did You Hear the One About the Carp Who Hailed a Taxi by Anne Phelan at 440 Gallery in Park Slope.

Phelan's boyfriend, Tom Bovo, is a photographer and for two years she has been staring at a photograph he took of carp and trying figure it out (it's the one pictured on the right).

Bovo is having his first solo photography show, which opened on Thursday at the 440 Gallery. The work looks wonderful and it should be a great show. I'll find out tonight when I go to see the play (and the photo show).

Bovo commissioned Phelan, a playwright, to write play about a photograph in the show. "I actually did have a difficult time deciding. I was all set to write about mannequins in a window (440 Gallery has some lovely bowed windows to put actors in), but I decided on the fish. The photograph is untitled, which kind of makes me crazy- playwrights don't do that." Phelan writes on her blog, Glamorous Life of the Theater.

Phelan started started writing in October and the play run for tonight only, Saturday, January 22, at 7:30 and 8:30. Melanie Sutherland directed and Jacob Grigolia-Rosenbaum plays Karl Carp and the lovely Cotton Wright is Mo Avakian the taxi driver.

I hope to be at the 7:30 show. See you there.

Filed under: arts and culture by admin · Comments Off
Tags:

Comments
Comments are closed.

- ABOUT OTBKB
- ADVERTISE ON OTBKB
- CONTACT OTBKB
- CONTRIBUTORS
- HALLOWEEN 2010
- OTBKB FEEDS
- SEND ME A TIP
- THE PARK SLOPE 100

JUST DRAWING FOR KIDS

Ryc Business Solutions

Fra Jean Hair Design & Spa

TIME AMONG THE DEAD Thomas Rayfield

RED HOOK LOBSTER POUND YOUR MAINE HOOK-UP